DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Drawings

2. This application has been filed with informal drawings which are acceptable for examination purposes only. Formal drawings will be required when the application is allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims ¹⁻²³~~4~~ are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Schneier et al. (Schneier) '398. Schneier discloses a wireless ticket device used for off-line and on-line gaming in a network gaming system having payment and game outcome validations (Col. 5-6).
A centralized computer system communicates with remote handheld devices (HTVs) and/or agent terminals over a telecommunication network using terrestrial or wireless connections comprising the network gaming system, wherein authentication messages containing gaming and payment authorizations are transmitted between the computing devices comprising the network gaming system (Col. 7). Authentication messages are made of Authenticatable Game Authorization Messages (AGAM) and Authenticatable Redemption Request Messages (ARRM). The message contents of the AGAM and the ARRM hold game purchase/validation information, account balance information, cash out information, as well as various player related tracking information.

HTVs are known to comprise personal computing devices such as a personal computers and a handheld personal digital assistant (23:10-20). The central management computers along with the HTVs contain databases that allow data storage especially related to player balances and outcomes/game authorizations (11:23-50) and furthermore allow easy player cash out routines (16:26-60). Alternatively voucher/game/validation information can be printed in place of or used in conjunction with wirelessly transmitting the information (13:60 – 14:8). Schneier also teaches placing a time stamp in a validation message (9:20-22) and a player data input system comprising a touch screen display (12:8-9).
